

“Sex and Sexuality After Brain Injury”

Thursday, February 28, 2019 | 2:15pm-3:15pm

About the Speaker

Dr. Logemann is excited to be sharing her expertise in her new role as Clinical Neuropsychologist at On With Life in Ankeny, IA; although her journey here was not a straight path. Having grown-up in WI and completing her BA from Carleton College in MN, she is excited to be putting down roots in the Midwest. She completed her doctoral degree in clinical psychology at the American School of Professional Psychology in Washington, DC and her neuropsychology internship through the Acquired Brain Injury Program at Hamilton Health Sciences in Ontario, Canada. She stepped away from the world of brain injury to complete her residency at the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha, but is glad to be back in the rehabilitation field.

Allison Logemann, PsyD

On With Life, Clinical Neuropsychologist

Description

The purpose of this presentation is to provide family, survivors, and providers information and resources regarding sexual functioning and sexuality following brain injury. Additional topics and skills of concern also include absolute consent and identifying and preventing abuse.

Objectives

1. Identify factors that can contribute to biopsychosocial changes in sexuality after brain injury.
2. Understand factors that can contribute to increased prevalence of sexual abuse in individuals with traumatic brain injury.
3. Discuss factors relating to consent.
4. Identify resources that can be used with patients to aid sexual education and practice.
